THE ALABAMA ELECTION.

No definite returns from the Alabama election held last Monday have been sent out by the Associated Press. It is said that the election was quiet through out the State and that there was a falling off of nearly 50,000 from the vote of two years ago. The People's party carried the northern counties by a majority of 15,000 to 18,000, while the Democrats received a larger majority in the central and southern counties. The whites are in the ascendancy in the northern counties and the blacks predominate in the southern counties. In the middle and southern counties the negroes voted solidly for Oates, the Democratic candidate for Governor, who claims the State by a majority ranging from 15,000 to 40,000.

In Mobile the Democratic majority of 3,000 was reduced to 700, and in the mining counties, also, the Democratic loss was heavy. Kolb, the People's party candidate for Governor, carried every county that gave him a majority two years ago.

The Legislature is claimed by the Democrats by a majority of twelve or fifteen on joint ballot. Two years ago the Democrats had a majority of forty-one on joint ballot. The Legislature will elect a United States Senator to succeed John T. Morgan, whose term will expire next March.

WHY IS THIS?

The wool-growers who are howling for protection for their wool are now confronted with the fact that notwithstanding wool is admitted free of duty in England, it commands a better price there than in the United States, where it sells today at less than the import duty. On the other hand clothes made out of low-priced protected wool in America cost about twice as much as clothes made out of high-priced free trade wool in England.

It is clear that if the American manufacturer can get his wool cheaper he ought at least to sell his manufactured product as cheaply as his English neighbor, but he don't and the difference in the cost is what the American voter pays for being "protected" and the American wool-grower keeps right on voting for the party that while pretending to protect him has actually reduced the price of American wool below the rate paid in the free trade countries of Europe.

The duped American wool-grower is like the man who was warming his hands before a stove in which some wag had placed a candle. When the man's attention was called to the fact he said: "Shut up you d— fool. I was enjoying myself until you shot your mouth off."

Methodical Ignorance.

A skilled man in the Assayers office of the Mint was notified that he was expected to take a walk as soon as he could teach his successor what he knew. Not long ago one of the melts got into a cantankerous mood and he was obliged to "doctor" it.

"What's that stuff you are putting in?" asked the new man.

"Damfino."

"What do you do that for?" was the next query.

"Damfino."

"How long does that have to stay on?"

"Damfino."

The old hand is still there.

If the recent strike has done more harm than good in a number of ways it has at least brought to light many of the illegal and corrupting influences exercised by large corporations and has shown the people much of the evil effects of organized capital, besides having brought before the public the question of Government ownership and control of railroads, and has been an incontrovertible argument in its favor.—Silver State.

The German Social Democrats, after waging an unsuccessful war against certain breweries in Berlin by an attempted boycott, decided to boycott all the breweries in town. The effect was very slight. The attendance at the boycotted beer houses remained about the same.

New Postage Stamps.

The new postage stamps, to which collectors have been looking forward to, will be put into circulation about October 1st. The only difference from the present design will be the corners above the medallion, which are plain in the present stamps, but which in the new ones will contain a little triangular decoration. The colors, too, may possibly be changed to green for one cent, red for two cent and blue for five cent, in accordance with the recommendation of the international postal union, made some time ago.

The best way to reach the Springs is by McKinney's Lake Tahoe, thence by stage eight miles, through a wild and picturesque country.
